

Institute for the Study of Addiction
Student Research Awards

The Boise State University Institute for the Study of Addiction is accepting applications for student research awards. Research awards up to $200 are available to support student travel to present addictions-related research at state, regional, and national conferences. Awards may also be available to support conducting addictions-related research. Salary support is not available through this award mechanism.

To apply, please submit the following to the Institute Leadership Team at dianadoumas@boisestate.edu:

1. Cover letter describing research project and proposed use of funds
2. Detailed budget of all costs
3. Conference proposal submission (if applying for travel money)
4. Contact information

Applications for research awards will be accepted from September 1 - April 1.

For questions, please contact Dr. Doumas, Director for the Institute for the Study of Addiction at dianadoumas@boisestate.edu.
