Boise State University’s TRIO Educational Talent Search

TRIO Educational Talent Search (ETS) is a federally funded program sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education. ETS was originally sponsored by Sargent Shriver and was one of President Johnson’s Great Society measures.

The program has been funded nationwide since 1965 and in the Treasure Valley since 1974. Boise State University ETS has continued to obtain funding and is able to provide expanded services to students.

Boise State University Educational Talent Search serves 1,500 students grades 8-12. Two-thirds of the participants must be first-generation to college (neither parent graduated from college) and come from limited income families. Students must be a U.S. citizen or permanent resident. Participants receive differing levels of service depending upon the grade level.
